

Darien, IL based Leeco Steel, LLC was presented with the 2010 Chicago Chapter AWWI Company of the Year Award on September 22, 2010. Denton J Nordhues, President and CEO accepted the award at the 27th Annual Industry Dinner and Awards Banquet event held at the Hyatt Regency McCormick Place in Chicago, IL.

“Leeco is proud to receive this great honor. We fully support AWWI’s cornerstones; grow, educate, network and mentor women and men in the metals industry. The opportunities the AWWI provides our employees, and each member of their organization, are positively affecting Leeco and the metals industry itself.

Leeco Steel is a leading distributor of carbon, high-strength low-alloy, and heat-treated alloy plate with locations in Portage, IN; Oshkosh, Wis.; Ambridge, Pa.; Chattanooga, TN; Fort Worth, TX; and San Nicolas de los Garza, Mexico. Leeco Steel, headquartered in Darien, IL is wholly owned by O’Neal Steel, which is the nation’s largest family-owned, full-line metals service center.